Content Outline

Joanne Shin
shiny@wustl.edu, slack
11/18/2020

Project Title: Gordon Ramsay

I would like to build this website with multiple pages that are sectioned by categories. Site navigation in the traditional top to bottom style. The Wikipedia page has overwhelming information in an uncomfortable way. As a chief, his personality is known to be strict and fiery to adults, but sweet to children. The contents should be clearly separated, but a subtle transition from each category. Not too colorful, but not dreading colors.

Categories:

- Intro(early life) - A short section about how he started cooking: where he started to work, teachers/influencers in his early life, and where he is from.
- Cooking career - head chef career
- Awards - As a renowned chef, he has gotten multiple awards as a chef and his restaurants. I'd like this section to have an explanation of what each award means.
- Restaurants Owned - There is a huge list of restaurants that he owns, but no need to add closed restaurants. Also, mark which ones have a Michelin rated star.
- Filmography/TV - Television shows or appearances that he was in. Since he is also a star chef. Maybe having small images from certain shows would be nice for the audience.